

The Problem: Three Viewpoints

Subjugating 'others', domestication by man

Treating everyone else
as 'strange'

Absence of human-animal interconnectedness

The Glass Menagerie as a Memory Play

- Focused on past recollection

"I am the narrator of the play, and also a character in it. The other characters are my mother, Amanda, my sister Laura, and a gentleman caller who appears in the final scenes" (Williams's p.3)

- Memory a painful phase
- Memory play enhances experiences
